Australia's economy on track for a quick coronavirus recovery

Australia is well positioned to make a speedy economic recovery, but must tread carefully in the coming weeks according to the Business Council of Australia. Modelling of the coronavirus' economic impacts by the Business Council shows Australia can achieve a quick, 'V-shaped' economic recovery – rapidly recouping some of the losses the nation has endured to date.

But to do so, government will need to act quickly and responsibly to unwind restrictions without compromising Australians' health. Just how quickly the economy recovers will depend on how long the current set of coronavirus restrictions remain in place.

World Situation

Japan

Japanese Prime Minister Shinzo Abe said it would be impossible to host the Tokyo Olympic Games next year unless the coronavirus pandemic is contained. might need to be delayed further.

Last month, the International Olympic Committee and the Japanese government postponed the Games until July 2021.

Worldwide Cases
(29.04.2020, 0600 am)

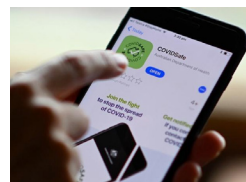

3,190,584 Total cases confirmed
986,725 Total recovered
225,857 Deaths confirmed

The true figure is expected to be far higher due to the lack of widespread testing in many countries.
